Abstract

George F. Jowett was one of the first to offer strength correspondence courses to people at a time when there really were relatively few gymnasiums. He was born December 23, 1891 in England and lived there until 1911 when he immigrated to Canada. In 1923 he moved to Pittsburgh and then Scranton, Pennsylvania where he established the Jowett Institute of Physical Culture. Also in the early 1920s, Jowett and Ottley Coulter formed the American Continental Weightlifting Association to standardize records. In later years Jowett established the Body Sculpture Club in England and became the public warden for his local church. He also tried to bring industry to the Morrisburg, Ontario, area, succeeding with a chemical plant in 1959. He passed away in 1969.

Copyright
The user is cautioned that the publication of any of the contents of this collection may be construed as constituting a violation of literary property rights. These rights derive from the principle of common law, affirmed in the 1976 copyright act, that the writer of an unpublished letter or other manuscript has the sole right to publish the contents thereof for the duration of the copyright. Unless he or she affirmatively parts with that right, the right descends to his or her legal heirs regardless of the ownership of the physical manuscript itself. It is the responsibility of an author or his publisher to secure permission of the owner of literary property rights in unpublished writing. This material may be protected by copyright law (Title 17, U.S. Code).

Right to Privacy: Sensitive Materials Statement
Manuscript collections and archival records may contain materials with sensitive or confidential information that is protected under federal or state right to privacy laws and regulations. Researchers are advised that the disclosure of certain information pertaining to identifiable living individuals represented in this collection without the consent of those individuals may have legal ramifications (e.g., a cause of action under common law for invasion of privacy may arise if facts concerning an individual’s private life are published that would be deemed highly offensive to a reasonable person) for which the H.J. Lutcher Stark Center and the University of Texas at Austin assumes no responsibility.

Biographical Note

George Fiusdale Jowett (1891-1969)

George Fiusdale Jowett first engaged in wrestling and strongman feats, including arm wrestling (wrist turning), later creating a fitness correspondence course offered to the public so that they might achieve his muscularity. Born in Bradford, Yorkshire, England, December 23, 1891, Jowett participated in wrestling and boxing bouts as early as age 15, immigrating to Canada in 1911 at the age of 19. He arrived in Inkerman, Ontario and worked as a blacksmith for over a decade. On October 15, 1913 he married Elizabeth (Bessie) Hilda Bouck and their daughter, Frances Phyllis Eliza (went by Phyllis) arrived April 30, 1916. In 1923 George F. Jowett moved to Pittsburgh, PA where he taught physical education classes and performed in strength shows. Jowett befriended Ottley Coulter, a famous strongman, at that time, and together they founded the first weightlifting association in the United States, the American Continental Weight Lifting Association (ACWLA). The ACWLA tried to create standards for types and methods of lifts, such that records could be vetted and the public could trust in their veracity.

Jowett later moved to Scranton, PA where he founded the Jowett Institute of Physical Culture, the concern that would publish his famous fitness correspondence courses. Then he moved to Philadelphia, there creating his American Athletic Appliance Company, and for the Canadian Market, the Canadian Athletic Appliance Co. (based in Morrisburg, Ontario): leaders in the production of exercise equipment. He also was involved with the Health Sales Corporation, producer of the Seat of Health, a rowing machine that folded to fit in a suitcase. Johnny Weissmuller, of swimming and Tarzan fame, loved the product so much that he endorsed it without compensation. Furthermore, a Mitchell Parish and Frank Perkins song of the early 1930s celebrated the apparatus, exclaiming that you Seat Yourself in a Seat of Health (And You’ll Sit Pretty All Day).

A 1940 back accident led George F. Jowett to start to slow down, but Ben Rebuhn kept using his image and name to promote correspondence fitness courses into the early 1960s. After moving back to Inkerman in 1945, Jowett befriended a young Joe Weider and later allowed Ben and Joe Weider to sell some of his remaining strength books. Jowett became the public warden of Holy Trinity Anglican Church in nearby Riverside, helping to move the building so it would not be submerged by the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Project. Jowett also wrote a religious book, entitled The Drama of the Lost Disciples, first published in 1961. Jowett continued to work for the community, trying to get companies to locate plants in Cornwall, another city near to Inkerman. Jowett passed away July 11, 1969 and a window in Holy Trinity Church was dedicated to him reading: To The Glory of God And In Ever Loving Memory of George Fiusdale Jowett, Born 23rd Sept. (should be Dec.) 1891. Died 11th July 1969. He spent his Life Dedicated in Service to Mankind.
